Features

2 The Shining Path or The Other Path Out of Poverty?
by Jane Kaufman Winn
Can the results of a study of the informal economy in Peru serve as a model for empowering the economically disenfranchised in the United States?

8 The Imprisonment of Commercial America
by Linda S. Eads
By increasing the number of white-collar crimes subject to criminal penalties, we may be discouraging commercial risk-taking and encouraging moral disdain for the law.

14 Rethinking the Myth: The Costs of the Corporate Attorney-Client Privilege
by Elizabeth G. Thornburg
The corporate attorney-client privilege greatly impedes the truth-seeking function of litigation and imposes tremendous transactional costs on society.
